

Lyrics of the Dawn

Hammarizere THERES a city called Hammarizere, In a lovely land that I will not name; Where all of the round of the ruling year As a summer mere the skies are clear, And only the flowers of life take flame From the great white sun in the dazzling dome ;A nd though dew ne er gathers and rain ne er falls, There are waters that circle the shining walls, And break into bubble and toss into foam Round the city called Hammarizere. There sa city called Hammarizere, Where every gate is jeweled with Jade And opal, shimmering sphere on sphere ;A nd the mounting pinnacles, each a spear Of welded marble, swim from a shade Sotenebrous that the nightingales Sing all day long their love-despair. Making amorous the emerald air With the passionate burden of their tales, In the city called Hammarizere.(Typographical errors above are due to OCR software and dont occur in the book.)About the Publisher Forgotten Books is a publisher of historical writings, such as: Philosophy, Classics, Science, Religion, History, Folklore and Mythology.Forgotten Books Classic Reprint Series utilizes the latest technology to regenerate facsimiles of historically important writings.
