

FAULT LINES on the FACE of CHINA: 50 REASONS WHY CHINA MAY NEVER BE GREAT

Currently a best seller in Taiwan, and also published in Japan by Random House, the 2010-2011 International Edition of Fault Lines On The Face Of China: 50 Reasons Why China May Never Be Great is now available in the original English. Author David Marriott - the Englishman who originated the notorious China Bounder character, was vilified by Mainland Chinese, and subsequently arrested and deported from China - is back with a searing treatment of Communist Chinas impending greatness. And author Karl Lacroix - the Canadian who risked arrest to return to China to destroy files and documents incriminating his sources, uses his 16+ years of living inside the Mainland to reveal the faults Communist China wishes to hide. FAULT LINES ON THE FACE OF CHINA: 50 REASONS CHINA MAY NEVER BE GREAT, bares the cold truth - no false platitudes - no sweet talking - no guff! Each reason is fully researched and supported, often in the words of the very Government Officials trying to present the glory of the Motherland to the world as a fait accompli. Fault Lines is 496 pages, divided into 50 reasons - each perhaps more shocking than the last. Each reason is 100% currently active inside the nation of China - festering - infecting the Chinese peoples future and, yes, possibly affecting the entire world. Lacroix and Marriott warn you - within the covers of this book you will not find solutions, sage advice or attempts at problem solving - nor will you find balanced, glad handing commentary, or sunshine comments such as, circumstances are improving or things are getting better. You will find the truth and the proof of it. Undecorated, unembellished, and unencumbered by politics, tradition or ideology - pure, unbalanced, and cold - as the truth is best told. There is cold truth to be found in China and in FAULT LINES ON THE FACE OF CHINA: 50 REASONS WHY
