

That Ridiculous Blue Sky

In every city, everywhere, men and women, young and not so young, hang out in bars and clubs, troll the internet, join singles groups, hoping to meet that special someone who will transform their lives. That Ridiculous Blue Sky tells of Marsha, Helen, and Janet, three very different women, who meet at a promotional event for Magdalena, the Mediterranean Matchmaker. Their lives are transformed but not as they could possibly have foreseen! Acclaim for Monica Morris's Falling in Love Again: The Mature Woman's Guide to Finding Romantic Fulfillment. (Square One Publishers. New York): Morris, thrust into the dating scene after being widowed, speaks to intimidated readers as a knowledgeable older sister, using her own experience and case studies to encourage love-seeking again. Library Journal I highly recommend Dr. Morris's book as a valuable and helpful guide for women seeking personal fulfillment and companionship. I appreciate the author's careful assessment of the labyrinth awaiting those re-entering the uncertain world of dating. Janice Smithers, PhD
