

Love Turned Blue

After a strained and unfulfilling marriage to a woman, contractor Slade Thompson has had some very hot sex with some very hot men. But none of them have come close to giving Slade what he really wants love and commitment. When he meets auto mechanic Bruno Ross, Slade finally finds a man who desires a dedicated relationship as much as he does. But Slade's thirteen-year-old son Kent is spiraling out of control as he struggles through the emotional fallout from the divorce. It's too bad Bruno doesn't like kids, and isn't at all sure he wants to be around a hostile boy who blames his gay dad for tearing his family apart. Bruno has baggage of his own. He broke up with Davis, his partner of eleven years, only five months before he met Slade. It quickly becomes obvious that, despite his strong feelings for Slade, Bruno hasn't quite broken his emotional ties to his past with Davis. Mutual desire no matter how strong might not be enough to hold their budding romance together.
