Luna Newsflash John Hamilton Earths Asteroid Mining Colony vanishes! The camera crew and I observed from the control room of the NN Nova chilling scans of the Asteroid Belt. The Cooperative Science Station, the Central Mining and Repair Station, and all mining ships, large and small do not answer and cannot be found by radar. El Rio, a newly commissioned miner, followed our magnificent war fleet to this far place. The captain Juan Sanchez is claiming mining rights to the whole abandoned sector. The Brain and the Professor in the asteroid science lab collaborated and developed the Out of Time and Space Drive to reach Other Space. A short ship movement in Other Space equals an extremely long movement in our space. The colony started sending probes to the stars. The forty-seventh brought news of a habitable planet. They sent a scout ship with a crew of two. The scout returned after four passes and one landing. The new world seemed perfect. While they were away the miners were changing all spaceships and stations to starships. Earth was demanding more and giving less each year for raw materials from the Asteroids. The story begins two hundred years after their arrival at the new system.
