

Paradise Bound

A young French doctor is torn between three men after a vacation to Southern California makes her reconsider her life choices. Natalie, a young French surgeon, has spent her life living up to other peoples expectations, including those of her possessive boyfriend, Jean-Marc. She flees Paris to visit her friend Simone in Los Angeles, hoping a long vacation will help her find peace with her intensely stressful life. But while unwinding in Venice Beach and partying in Hollywood, she stumbles across a part of herself shed set aside long ago. In sun-drenched Southern California, Natalie unleashes her passionate, vibrant and creative self and is tempted by two very attractive and unique men who are determined to claim her for their own. Still, the pull of the past and her left-behind love remains, and Natalie must make the most important choices of her life: does she return to the safety of the world that she knows, or does she embrace the promise of an unscripted and unpredictable future?
