

Feedback that works: to your children, colleagues, staff, boss, spouse....

Feedback that works is a very practical guide on how and when to give feedback to people that count (staff, children, life companion, boss, colleagues etc..) Feedback can be very profitable for both parties (giver and receiver) provided it is given well: by the right person, at the right time, with the right words. Feedback that works will help you to successfully manage your relationships and gain the confidence of your friends and relatives.
