

The Vision of the Tabernacle

The tabernacle was built approximately three thousand years ago and no longer exists. It was a very particular building. The tabernacle was a large tent covered with animal skins and surrounded by curtains of fine linen. It was the center of the living of about two million people who wandered in the wilderness. Inside that tent, the glint of gold pillars would be seen and there was unceasing smoke from sacrifices offered to God in the outer court. But the most impressive thing was that there was always a pillar of cloud or fire above the tabernacle! When the pillar would move, the people would disassemble the tabernacle and follow it. Wherever the pillar stopped, they would reassemble the tabernacle again. The tabernacle no longer exists, but its spiritual meaning is very current and practical. Moses built the tabernacle according to the divine pattern that God showed him on the mountain. He probably did not know that, in addition to being the physical place to worship God, the tabernacle symbolized many spiritual realities. In The Vision of the Tabernacle, Dong Yu Lan unveils many important aspects of our experience with Christ and our service to Him. He reveals how those who serve God should be and what God's commission is to them. Moreover, he shows how God can fulfill His greatest desire which is to have a people separated unto Him among whom He can abide. Read and practice it!
