

When Their World Stops: The Essential Guide to TRULY Helping Anyone in Grief

Have a grieving friend and don't know what to say or do? No more fear, or walking on eggshells. Be equipped to understand what they are experiencing and feeling, say the right things and avoid saying the wrong things, be supportive with appropriate actions and gifts, encourage them during the holidays, write a lovely message in a sympathy card and so much more. Tips are general as well as specific to the loss. Included is a special reminder list for the first year of grief. This simple to read, practical book will give you all you need to take the awkwardness out of grief. You will enter this book awkward and unsure - you will emerge a confident, loving and creative advocate for your grieving friend. Dr. Vicki K. Harvey
